Finally I'm actively engaged rather than just passively consuming. It like a fairy tale I've always wanted. Will it all crumble if my subscription expires? It is expensive.

Wow! I can't believe my life now. It is like a Spuniko! Music video where everyone is in love with me. I love the attention, but it is hard to stay focused at work when my boss keeps hitting on me. Eew gross.

This is weird. My white co-workers keep asking me to bring my family over for dinners and bbq. They keep touching my hair and asking how they can be allies. Why do I have to do the work? I thought SPOOR fixed this BS!

The worst! My stupid parents bought this for me because they hate that I'm gender fluid. I don't need this to date. I don't need attention. I need to be left the fuck alone.

Wait. I thought this was supposed to work for me, not make me a slave to my partner's needs. She can take care of herself, I certainly don't need to. I'm a man, not a romance novel.

Shed old conventions? Bollocks! Pun intended. Way to design a product from the male perspective. IKEA keeping the white cis male patriarchy alive.

Summary: To create a VIDEO PROTOTYPE of the SPOOR Pheromone Emitter that illustrates a interaction and creates questions where western hetero-normative capitalist systems are not explicitly serving people but rather serving the apparatus of economic optimization. Optimizing for technology may not be creating a more democratic world to serve a greater good. Large technological systems are may be altering our consciousness faster than our ability to critique and engage with it. Drinking the design thinking Kool-aid likely strengthens the systems we seek to disable, (Design Trouble).

Scenarios for consideration:

1. Parents buy SPOOR for college aged gay son to help him date women and be cured ,(and become hetro active).
2. Purchasing my higher self as a persona, to uncover emotional and psychological growth to be a better student, father and husband.
3. Like Botany of Desire, where flowers, (apples, marijuana,) manipulate humans for survival and to flourish, AI could be running manipulating experiments on culture humans for us into hybrid that serve AI better.
4. AI plays with us for its own entertainment by releasing pheremones to make human situation more intense.
5. Office Space redux with dealing with co-workers.

IKEA is considered innocuous in the business of designing interiors. What if IKEA designed not just living spaces but fostered certain kinds of lived experiences? What if the Scandinavian lifestyle/persona could be bought as personality? What if the nordic progressive sense of sexuality could be purchased?
